good is in Reanmption. and gold at greenback level, the News collects no money, And there's nothing for the Devil?

Both Editor and Devil Were better off by far, When gold was at a premium And property at par.

Now with noses on the grindstone And Resumptionists in power, The people have the torture And the usurer has the hour. You may talk of 6 per cent. Interest, But "down to par with gold"

Means interest at 20 And taxes double-fold. But even under "contraction" Bristol has enward sped, New walks and bridges and buildings Attests she drives shead. Yet there's many an idle hammer. And many an anxious gaze Of the willing sons of labor, Waiting the dawn of better days.

T'was left to young Tom Edison To find out the Telephone. And store up speech in the Phonograph Till Gabriel blows his horn.

But the devil beats Tom Edison; He keeps his Phonograph To repeat our life's iniquities In the day of Judgment wrath.

And I venture the opinion That if patent there shall be, The devil, and not Tom Edison, Should be the patentee.

You can easily imagine What Cain to Abel said, When with the first-known bludgeop He broke said Abel's head.

Now imagine said devil producing, On his Phonograph that day, What Cain then said to Abel, If said Cain should dare gainsay.

Then, Reader! like "ye editor," Be sure to always tell the truth, Or, when the devil draws his Phonograph On you, he'll have the proof.

Dear Bristol News reader, Let me warn you now in time, God records on His Phonograph Every noble deed of thine.

And when the golden trumpet Shall summon from each star Heaven's heraldry angelle For thy trial at its bar,

May God's Phonograph infallible, When it repeats thy life below, Bring no shame within thy bosom,

And no fear thy spirit know. May it tell that 'neath thy burden,

Though pressed with many a care, Thou did'st not forget thy brother, Who had more than he could bear.

Then thy Judge will find a Simon To remove thy cross who can, For He knows what it is to stumble 'Neath a load too great for man.
